

August 22, 2013

St. Petersburg State University (GSOM)

To Whom It May Concern:

On behalf of the Global Business School Network, I hereby confirm that the St. Petersburg State University, Graduate School of Management is a member of GBSN, with the rights and responsibilities of such a member.

The Global Business School Network is proud of our position at the intersection of management education and development, providing a framework to meet the human capacity challenges faced by growing developing world economies. As a GBSN member school you contribute directly to the advancement of management education for the developing world. We thank you for your commitment and active participation in the network.

Warm regards,

Guy Pfeffermann
Founder & CEO